

HOUGHTON DEPARTMENT

COPPER COUNTRY
FAIR TO CLOSE

TODAY IS THE LAST DAY OF
GREAT FAIR—PRIZES IN CORN
GROWING CONTEST ARE AWARDED.

Today is the last day of the great Copper Country fair. The fair has been a greater success than ever before and the exhibits this year are more numerous, better and more attractive than those of former years. It is not expected that the attendance will break the record of last year's exposition but it is thought that today's attendance will be greater than that for any separate day before this. On children's day, Thursday, over 2,600 paid admissions for children alone were taken.

Everything has gone smoothly with the exception of the lamentable death of Homer Hazard, the balloonist, who is thought to have met a watery grave in Portage Lake on the first day of the fair.

Exhibits are attractive. The grain and field exhibit under the supervision of John A. Deagle does great credit to this great farming section. Neatly tied stalks of grain are shown, indicating the possibilities of raising wheat, rye, oats, buckwheat and barley in this section. Bunches of beans, peas, alfalfa, clover and timothy are plentiful.

In the vegetable department supervised by James E. Crooker of Ontonagon, the exhibits are declared to be the equal and better than any ever shown in any fair held in the north. The potato exhibition was especially large containing potatoes of all varieties. Supt. Lucas admits that the fruit exhibit this year is not what it has been in other years but this has been an off season for fruit, the crabapples being conspicuous by their absence. The flower exhibit under the supervision of Mrs. J. H. Edwards of Dollar Bay makes a very pretty showing at one end of the Amphidrome. The livestock show is marked by the quality of the exhibits in the cattle and horse departments, and the poultry department is larger than ever. Entries in the livestock department are mainly from the Roycroft farm of Sildaw, the J. K. Barnes Fair Oaks stock farm of Ewen; Rudolph Stindt's farm of Topaz and the Pryor Lumber company's Percheron-draft horses.

Baby Show Yesterday. One of the most interesting features of yesterday's program was the baby show. Baby boys and girls under three years and over one were entered in the contest. Twelve proud mothers held up their children to the judges when the call for baby girls was sounded and the first prize was, after some hesitation awarded to the girl of Mr. and Mrs. William Kellan of Man-dan. The daughter of Mrs. Thomas Hyslop of Calumet was declared the second prettiest. When the announcer gave the call for baby boys, 15 sturdy youngsters faced the judges. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Metcalf of Hancock was declared the handsomest young gentleman, while Baby Korr of Houghton came in for a close second.

The Calumet & Houghton band which played every day of the fair, deserves its share of praise for the manner in which it rendered the concert numbers. Further praise would be superfluous when it is said that the "band played as usual."

A motor boat race will be held this afternoon at four o'clock or immediately after the performance in the Amphidrome. The races will be announced by megaphone and will be in charge of Ernie Hauser. Motor boats owned by Messrs. Bennetts, Deen, Funkley, Fletcher, Glanville and others will compete. It is probable that slight handicaps will be arranged by the owners of the boats in order to make the races more interesting.

Premiums in Corn Contest. The premiums for the corn contest were yesterday awarded. Over five hundred entries were made in this contest which is one of the features of the Copper Country fair.

This feature was intended to interest school children along agricultural lines, and incidentally educate their elders to the value of copper country land for farming purposes. The grand

BELLAIRE GETS VERDICT
AGAINST LUMBER COMPANY

The jury in the case of Joseph Bellaire versus the Worcester Lumber company, Ltd., returned a verdict shortly after eight o'clock last evening in favor of Bellaire for $1,057, after being out for four hours. Bellaire asked for $5,000 damages. Attorney P. H. O'Brien represented the plaintiff while Allen P. Hoes, acted as counsel for the defendant company.

Bellaire alleged that a jam formed by the logs of the defendant company, caused the water of the Sturgeon river to overflow his land, throwing sand on his property and causing a loss in fertility to the soil. The river also changed its course and divided the land of the plaintiff.

Several motions to take the case from the jury were brought by Attorney Rees, who made the argument that no negligence had been shown by the lumber company but the motions were all over-ruled by Judge A. T. Streeter.

The circuit court adjourned last evening, when the verdict in the case of Joseph Bellaire versus the Worcester Lumber company was brought in until Monday morning.

Mrs. Horace J. Stevens returned yesterday from Notre Dame, Ind., where she accompanied her daughter, Miss

NO DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SEARCH FOR HARRY HAZARD

The search for Homer Hazard, the missing balloonist, was continued this morning. Chief of police, Louis Voetsch, headed another party of men and boats and the dragging of the lake was continued between Pryor's lumber yard and Haas' park on the Houghton shore. A number of boats kept up the search yesterday until late in the evening.

Louis Voetsch received a letter yesterday from the wife of Homer Hazard dated at Lansing, Mich., Sept. 28. A telegram had been sent to a party whose name was found on one of Hazard's letters but evidently the first information that had reached Mrs. Hazard in regard to the drowning of her husband was through the papers. This is the first confirmation of the rumor that Hazard was married. Mrs. Hazard instructed Mr. Voetsch to give her all the details of the drowning and to keep his clothes and belongings until she writes again.

Hazard's suit cases and clothes have been taken from Knauf's hotel, where Hazard stayed while in Houghton, and are being kept by Secretary McNamara.

Helen, who has entered St. Mary's academy.

W. A. Payne, president of the Copper Range Consolidated, arrived in Houghton yesterday in the special car "Ingot" on his semi-annual visit to the copper country.

Orenstein Bros., transferred their stock of furs and souvenirs from the Hancock building to their new place of business at the J. H. Rice building which has been entirely remodeled, yesterday, and opened up for business this morning.

SETTLE BASEBALL DISPUTE.

Houghton and Mohawk Teams to Meet in Post-Season Series.

The baseball dispute between the Mohawk and Double H teams was adjusted by a compromise at a meeting of the Copper Country Amateur Baseball league managers held last night at Hancock. No action was taken in Houghton's protest of a game played at Hancock, but it was agreed that the teams play a series of three games to decide the championship. The first game will be played at Hancock Sunday, the second at Calumet next Saturday, October 8, and the third at whatever time and place the winner of a coin toss may choose. None of the games will therefore likely be played at Houghton and Houghton.

The team is now in fine shape and Wagner is playing his usual good ball and the nine is hopeful of making good. The Mohawk aggregation is, however, not to be discarded. The
